Chair's Letter

Dear China Geography Specialty Group Members and Friends,

On behalf of this year's CGSG Executive Committee (Xinyue, Max, Zheyue and Jiang) and myself, it has been a great honor and pleasure to work for the specialty group. We have over 30 panels on China at this year's AAG meeting in New Orleans. A big thank-you goes to the Organizers, Chairs, and Presenters. Our Specialty Group Membership has gone down slightly to 385, but our overall membership size is pretty good. As you plan your trip to the upcoming AAG meeting in New Orleans and look forward to meeting new and old friends, I would like to give you a quick, yet fairly detailed preview of some of our exciting events at this year's meeting.

An overview: This year the CGSG is sponsoring 31 sessions at the annual meeting. We are expecting hundreds of our members to attend the meeting and more to join the specialty group. A growing number of geographers from China will fly across the Pacific Ocean and share their latest research. Welcome to New Orleans. The following are some highlighted events organized by your CGSG Executive Committee:

Day 2, April 11, Wednesday

- CGSG Keynote Talk. 5:20pm-7:00pm, Galerie 6, Marriott, 2nd Floor

This year our Keynote Talk will be delivered by Professor John Agnew from the Department of Geography, UCLA. Professor Agnew will talk about territorial politics in South China Sea. James Sidaway from the Department of Geography, National University of Singapore, will be the discussant. This Keynote Talk aims to situate China in international political economy and connect the CGSG with broad audiences.

Day 2, April 11, Wednesday

- Career Development in China. 8:00am-9:40am, Studio 2, Marriott, 2nd Floor

This session attempts to provide a platform between geographical institutions in China and potential job applicants.

Chair
Xiaobo Su

Vice Chair
Xinyue Ye

Secretary

Day 3, April 12, Thursday

- China Specialty Group Business Meeting. 11:50am-1:10pm, Regent, Marriott, 4th Floor
Please plan to be there. The Agenda is posted below in this Newsletter. We will announce this year's student paper competition winners and outstanding service award winner. We will also elect our new secretary.

Day 4, April 13, Friday

- Writing and Publishing about China. 3:20pm-5:00pm, Grand Ballroom D, Sheraton, 5th Floor
This discussion panel features six editors from prestigious journals in order to explain how to write and publish about China.

I strongly believe that we will have much fun during the conference. Please take the chance to consolidate friendship and make new friends. After all, the AAG meeting is a magnet for all of us.

With best wishes, and looking forward to seeing many of you in New Orleans

Xiaobo

Member News

Patrik Andersson (Aalborg University) has begun a PhD project with the working title: "Chinese Arctic Mineral Interests: Investigating Institutional and Political Reach." The project aims to identify, describe, and analyze China's geological and geopolitical priorities towards the Arctic mineral sector; the processes by which these priorities are formed; and how the diverse and sometimes competing priorities of different actors and institutions affect Chinese investments and activities in the Arctic mineral sector. The project is a collaboration between the Department of Culture and Global Studies at Aalborg University and the Center for Minerals and Materials at the Geological Survey of Denmark and Greenland. The project is supported by Innovation Fund Denmark and will run 2018-2020.

Werner Breitung has been based at the David Lam Institute for East-West Studies at Hong Kong Baptist University since mid-2016 to work on gated communities in Guangzhou and on sense of place in Hong Kong and Shenzhen.

Kam Wing Chan (University of Washington) was a keynote speaker at the 5th Young Scholars' Conference on China Studies held on Dec 18-19 at Hong Kong Baptist University. Prior to the Hong Kong's visit, he also spoke at National Taiwan University, Chinese Cultural University, and Changhua Normal University under the sponsorship of Taiwan's Ministry of Science and Technology. Activities about his public scholarship are at <http://faculty.washington.edu/kwchan/>

Cindy Fan (UCLA) recently organized and spoke at a session at the Association of International Education Administrators Annual Conference. She also attended a conference in Amsterdam on diversity research that was organized by UCLA, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam and the University of Free State in South Africa. She has a forthcoming chapter on "Gender Inequity in American Higher Education" and another chapter on "Population, Mobility and Migration" in the SAGE Handbook of Contemporary China. As Vice Provost for International Studies and Global Engagement, she has led UCLA Chancellor's trips to Beijing, Hangzhou, Taipei and Shanghai, culminating into a Pac-12 men's basketball China game. She will soon lead two trips to nine cities in East Asia and Southeast Asia.

Wei Li (Arizona State University) has been awarded a U.S. National Science Foundation grant for the period 2017-2020. The project is titled "Intellectual Migration: the Changing US-China Dynamics" (Wei Li, P.I.), $149,999.

Tim Oakes (University of Colorado) was awarded a 3-year grant from the Henry Luce Foundation for the project "China Made: Asian infrastructures and the 'China Model' of development." Emily Yeh is also involved in the project. A basic summary can be found here: <https://www.colorado.edu/cas/2017/12/13/center-asian-studies-awarded-luce-foundation-grant>. A longer story about the project can be found here: <https://www.colorado.edu/asmagazine/2018/02/14/cu-boulder-scholars-lead-effort-analyzing-chinas-huge-infrastructure-push>.

Stanley Toops (Miami University): presented a paper titled "Trade and Linkage on the New Silk Road" at the Central Eurasian Studies Society conference in Seattle in Fall 2017. Stanley will have leave Fall 2018 and plans to go to Japan, probably Kansai Gaidai. Tips about teaching in Japan are welcome (contact Stanley by email or in person in New Orleans). Summer 2019, Stanley will be co-Investigator on a NASA grant titled "Land-cover/land-use change in southern Vietnam through the lenses of conflict, religion, and politics, 1980s to present" and will be going to Vietnam for fieldwork.

Yehua Dennis Wei (University of Utah) has been serving as associate editor of Applied Geography (AG), which received more than 1,000 submissions in 2017. He welcomes China geographers to send their best papers to AG, although the acceptance is quite low. His special issue titled Urban Expansion, Sprawl and Inequality will soon be published by Landscape and Urban Planning.

Jessica Wilczak (University of Lausanne) has started a three-year contract as a Senior Researcher at the University of Lausanne in Switzerland. She recently attended a workshop in Denmark sponsored by the Danish Social Science Research Council titled "Urbanizing Rural China: Challenges of Rural Governance". Attendees are seeking to establish a Europe-based research network of scholars working on topics related to modernization projects in rural China. Interested researchers can contact Jesper Zeuthen at zeuthen@cgs.aau.dk. Jessica began a year of ethnographic fieldwork in Chengdu in March as part of a larger Swiss National Science Foundation funded project, "Public Goods in Urbanizing China." Jessica has a paper forthcoming in the Asian and Pacific Migration Journal entitled "Clean, safe, and orderly: migrants, race, and city image in global Guangzhou."
